

OWELLIAN

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1 million (Office of National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out a vision for the future of older people's services. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently in their own homes for as long as possible.
- Older people should be able to access the services and support they need to live independently.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives for the future of older people's services, including:

- To ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need to live independently.
- To ensure that older people are able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- To ensure that older people live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key actions for the future of older people's services, including:

- To ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need to live independently.

Senior Farewell

School days are a part of each
That can't be thrust aside
They dwell within the heart of us
To stay there and abide.

When first we entered these great halls
We gazed with looks so reverent
To everyone a different thought
A separate purpose meant.

With dreams, ideals, not clearly formed
We rushed in through the doors
With tasks in life still mildly vague
We stopped to see what lay in store.

All the grades we think we earned
Some with dislike, some with pleasure
All the many things acquired
We shall always treasure.

This dear old school has given much
To help us on our way
We've learned to discipline ourselves
And grown in wisdom every day.

So, we say farewell with saddened hearts
We're grieved we have to go
We'll miss the fun we all have shared
We want you all to know.
